Darwin Professional Underwriters Enhances Health Care Underwriting Division With Appointment of Medical Malpractice Leader

September 16, 2003 (Farmington, Connecticut)—Darwin Professional Underwriters, Inc. (Darwin) today announced the addition of Steven C. Spina to the company's health care underwriting leadership team as vice president. Steve will focus on underwriting medical professional liability insurance in select jurisdictions nationally while expanding the company's business and broker relations activities.

Most recently, Steve managed the $150 million Northeast region field operations of GE Medical Protective, a medical malpractice insurer. With 20 years experience in the insurance and reinsurance industries, Steve has spent the past 15 years underwriting medical professional lines of business. "Steve brings to Darwin a complete package of underwriting, marketing, and management skills that will have an immediate impact on developing this business," said Paul Romano, senior vice president of Darwin's health care underwriting division.

Darwin's health care underwriting division offers directors and officers (D&O) liability insurance, managed care errors and omissions (E&O) liability insurance, and medical professional liability coverages for hospitals, physicians, and miscellaneous medical professional risks.

Darwin Professional Underwriters, Inc. is an underwriting subsidiary of Alleghany Insurance Holdings LLC. Admitted coverage is issued by Platte River Insurance Company or Capitol Indemnity Corporation. Surplus lines coverage is issued by Capitol Specialty Insurance Corporation. Each has earned an A.M. Best Company rating of A+ (Superior). Darwin underwrites D&O liability and professional liability insurance for public and private companies, health care risks, and a broad range of professional classes.
